Dear Lou,

If for any reason you are still using the Chief Ranger mailbox, I suggest that when Steve Burton gave it to Herve Lamarre to get a printed copy of the book, in French to you, he ended any security it may have had.

Is it not strange that the manuscript could safely go through the mail, uninsured, unprotected in any way, but he was worried about getting a French edition of the already published book through safely?

For my own purposes, can you send me Nancy Perrin Rich Hamilton's address?

Did anyone ever ask the bondsman who, if anyone, arranged for Oswald's bond?

Remember the Perrin pictures, please.

Hope you are finished with the flu.

Best regards,

Harold Weisberg
